

EMOTIONAL CAPITALISTS THE NEW LEADERS

Essential Strategies for Building Your Emotional Intelligence and Leadership Success

Your invitation to breakfast

Daniel Goleman convinced us that to be successful in our personal and professional lives we need Emotional Intelligence. In this seminar Martyn Newman, PhD., DPpsych., a leading international expert in Emotional Intelligence and Leadership tells us clearly how to build them.

The seminar is based on ground-breaking psychological research with some of the world's most successful young business leaders, and reveals the seven dynamic emotions that set these exceptional men and women apart. It also explores:

- Why EQ is essential in leadership and why it is more important than IQ
- What are the seven dynamic emotions that define outstanding leaders
- How to leverage emotional strengths that build effective market driven relationships
- What are the seven 'must have' components for building EQ in an organization

The seminar delivers the clearest blueprint yet for systematically building emotional intelligence and leadership skills across the organization along with the tools for making it happen.
